

HCA OFFERS NEW “HOME TELEHEALTH MANUAL” FOR PURCHASE

The Home Care Association of New York State (HCA) is proud to announce the publication of a "Telehealth Manual" - a publication based on the accumulative knowledge and expertise of HCA provider members and staff. In New York, home telehealth use has evolved, in the last five years, from a handful of providers to more than seventy serving several thousand patients. It is expected to continue to grow and evolve to become the standard of care, essentially transforming the way health care services are provided in the home.

The "Manual" is a “nuts and bolts” publication and includes a: general introduction to telehealth, guidelines, business related chapters on program design, evaluation, and return on investment (ROI), lessons learned submitted by provider members, chapters on grant writing for telehealth, New York policy initiatives related to telehealth, and over 100 pages of forms, documents, and tools to assist providers in implementing new programs. The Manual also includes a CD that includes all the forms and tools in a Word format to allow for easy use and modification.

HCA believes this manual will be a valuable reference for years to come for those interested in developing a new home telehealth program or improving an existing one. It is our hope that it will save purchasers hours of work, prevent costly errors, create thought, and further the use of telehealth under an umbrella of quality and efficient home care by extending the eyes, ears, and touch of home care nurses and their agencies.
